

A map of the island of Sardinia, Italy, divided into its various provinces. The province of Nuoro is highlighted in orange, located in the central-eastern part of the island. Other labeled locations include Sassari in the northwest, Alghero on the west coast, and Nuoro in the center. The map also shows the surrounding sea and some smaller islands.

A map of Europe divided into four numbered regions. Region 428 is orange and covers Scandinavia. Region 445 is green and covers the British Isles. Region 462 is orange and covers Central Europe. Region 463 is white and covers Eastern Europe.

[illegible]